Finding the perfect lodge for you and your family

Owning a Willerby lodge is so much more than four walls.

It's about having the freedom to escape, explore, relax and unwind whenever you like. It provides you with the space to create memories with family and friends which will last a lifetime. Like the sound of this? Check out our quick five-step guide which will help you make owning a lodge a reality!

1. Do your research

As with any big purchase, it's useful to do your research first. This will make the buying process more enjoyable, as you'll understand everything when it comes to the exciting bit - choosing your home!

2. The two P's- park and plot

Location, Location, Location! From traditional seaside resorts to idyllic rural escapes, finding the park that's right for you is incredibly important.

Here are some of the things that are worth considering:

- Travel time
- Facilities
- Local area
- Type of park
- Your plot

3. Find your dream home

Now you've found your park, it's time to choose your dream home! Every Willerby lodge in our range is different, meaning there is something for everyone.

We have two fabulous showgrounds, one in Hull and the other in Livingston, where you can see a wide range of Willerby homes in the flesh! Viewing the homes, either online, or in person, really helps you to consider what your criteria is and also which optional extras you'd want to add to your home.

4. The buying process

Once you've found your home it's time to place your order.

Just like buying a car, you can only buy homes through your park or local distributors. A full list is available on page 4.

Their friendly team will be on hand to help from the day you place the order to the day you get your keys and beyond. They are also responsible for arranging the delivery, siting and final inspection of your home.

Top tip: Make sure you add any optional extras at least three months prior to the build date of your new home.

5. Welcome to the family

Once you've got your keys, unpacked your bags and settled down with a cup of tea, it's time to join the Willerby Owners Club (more information on page 5).

It's also a good time to familiarise yourself with your home, read our owners handbook and register the warranties for both your home and its appliances.

The Boston

The Boston's colour scheme is mature but still bang on trend. Blush pink and graphite accented furniture add contrast to the earthy base palette of grey and dark oak, creating a warm and calming space.

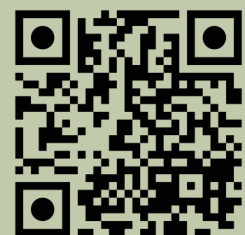

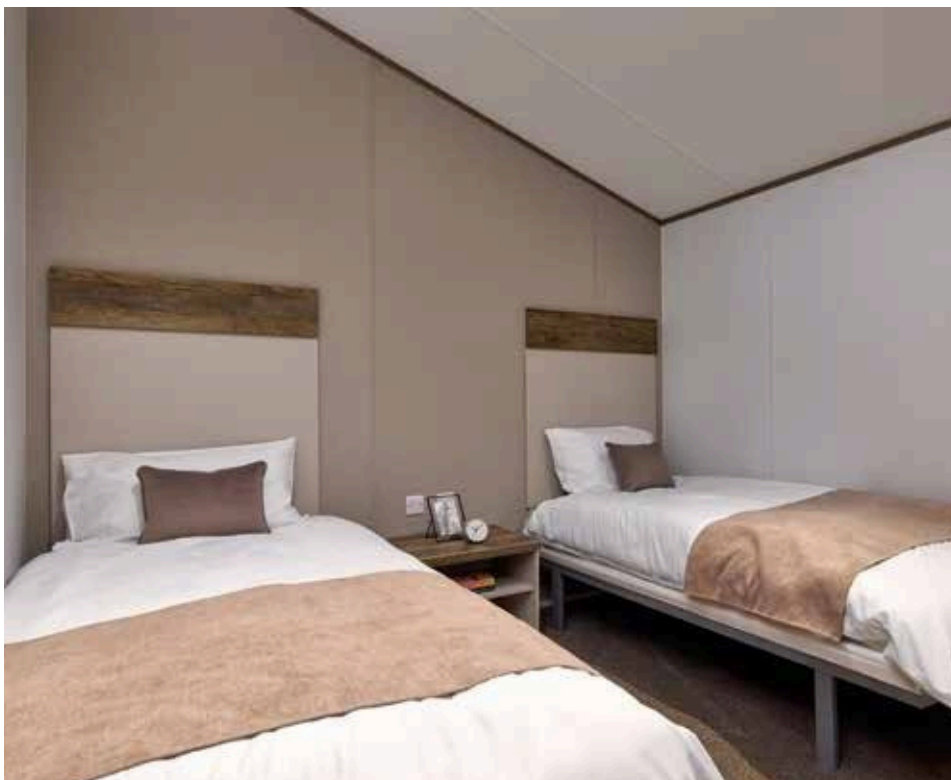

It's a home you could truly make your own with a large open plan living space that's ideal for filling with cosy blankets, luscious green plants and personal touches.

If you prefer simplicity, the clean lines of this lodge are a great base for that minimalist decor you've been dreaming of. Extra storage and a cleverly designed layout mean you won't be short of space. Whether you are entertaining the family or on vacation with your furry friends there's plenty of room for everyone. The Boston offers all the essentials you could want from an entry level holiday lodge - all it needs now is you!

Frequently asked questions

We want to make your buying experience as smooth as possible. To help you along the way we've pulled together some of the queries we hear most often and the answers to go along with them!

Where can I view Willerby models?

How much can I expect to pay for my holiday lodge?

When it comes to buying a holiday lodge, pricing can vary depending on a number of factors, such as park location, site facilities, and your pitch size. Similar to the housing market, the cost of your holiday lodge may increase in more sought after locations. Our website includes a list of RRP's to give you an indication of the cost of each home. This is unlikely to be the final cost you pay as it doesn't take into account siting, transportation or optional extras. For the most accurate quote we recommend contacting the park or dealership that you wish to purchase the home from. Visit willerby.com/price-lists to find out more.

Where can I view Willerby models?

We have two dedicated showgrounds located in Hull and Livingston. These are guaranteed to be the best location to see the widest selection of Willerby models in a single place. One of our friendly knowledgeable team will be on hand to greet you and make you a brew before allowing you the time to explore our range at your own leisure. Visit willerby.com/showgrounds to book an appointment today.

What does the eco pack include?

Our optional eco pack is designed to help you control your water and energy consumption. With reduced flush cisterns, aerated taps/showerheads, and a thermostatically controlled boiler valve that saves energy when firing, you'll be doing your bit for the planet.

Can I buy direct from Willerby?

We only sell our homes through a nationwide network of parks and approved distributors, even if you are purchasing one of our homes to go on your own land. Turn to page 4 where we have provided a full list of the certified distributors we work with. Alternatively, visit willerby.com/parks to use our find a park tool.

Can I make changes to my holiday lodge?

All of our products have a wide range of optional extras you can choose from. Options may vary from product to product so it's worth checking the list provided for the model that you are looking to purchase. Unfortunately we cannot accommodate structural and cosmetic changes outside of the options listed in this brochure. All optional extras must be selected three months prior to the home being built.

How can I find out the bed sizes in your homes?

We have pulled together a list of the bed sizes that come as standard in all our homes. This may help you make a decision on which home is perfect for you! It will also help you get organised before your home arrives, allowing you to buy bedding that fits your beds perfectly. Visit willerby.com/beds to find out more.

What is the difference between a holiday home and a lodge?

The phrase “holiday home” refers to single chassis units which can be up to 14.5 feet wide.
“Lodge” typically refers to a twin chassis unit, which are usually 20 feet wide when the two chassis are joined together. They are constructed and transported in two halves and are fitted together onsite by a siting team. The word “lodge” can also sometimes refer to a single chassis holiday home that is built to a higher than usual specification e.g. with upgraded cladding or insulation.

Can I put a holiday lodge on my own land?

Yes, this is possible and lots of people purchase holiday homes for their own land. Planning permission is generally required, so we would recommend seeking advice from your local authority.
Holiday homes for private land can be purchased via one of our certified distributors. Please turn to page 4 for a full list.

How do I source spare parts?

How do I source spare parts? Whether you have damaged something in your Willerby and need to replace it or are simply looking to give your holiday lodge a spruce, Willerby can help make your home perfect again. All requests for spare parts will be processed via your park or distributor - speak to them today to ask them to request a quote via our Willerby aftersales portal. Although we aim to fulfill all requests this is subject to the availability of parts.

What is the difference between EN 1647 and BS 3632 (2023) standard?

~~These build standards can be used for both holiday homes and lodges.~~ EN 1647 is the European standard for holiday homes, which are suitable for seasonal holiday use.
BS 3632 (2023) is the British residential standard and these homes are suitable for 12 month use (subject to the site licence).

What is the Simply Better Sleep package?

~~Our Simply Better Sleep package offers you the opportunity to upgrade to a Hypnos superior pocket-sprung double or kingsize mattress and Willerby Super Sleep single mattresses.~~ With more depth, springs and durability, everyone in your holiday home will benefit from those extra zzz's.

What is included in the bedding pack?

The bedding packs include:

Kingsize or double bed:

(Per bed)

- One duvet cover
- Two pillowcases
- One bed runner
- One bolster cushion

Single beds:

(Per bed)

- One duvet cover
- One pillowcase

Your holiday lodge cladding

We understand that it's important that your holiday home stands out on your park for all the right reasons and with a Willerby holiday lodge you can do just that.

Choosing the right cladding for your home can depend on your location, personal preference, or park licence. Here's a quick guide to the cladding options available to you.

CanExel®

CanExel® is a high-density wood composite product created from oak, maple and birch. Its deeply textured wood grain appearance makes it the perfect choice for those who want all the beauty of genuine wood, but with added durability and minimal maintenance requirements.

Sierra

Barnwood

Mist Grey

Cliffside

Acadia

For information on how to maintain your cladding please refer to your owner's handbook or visit willerby.com

Aluminium

This woodgrain textured aluminium cladding is exclusively available on our Boston lodge. As standard this comes in a light grey but make sure to speak to your park or distributor for additional options.

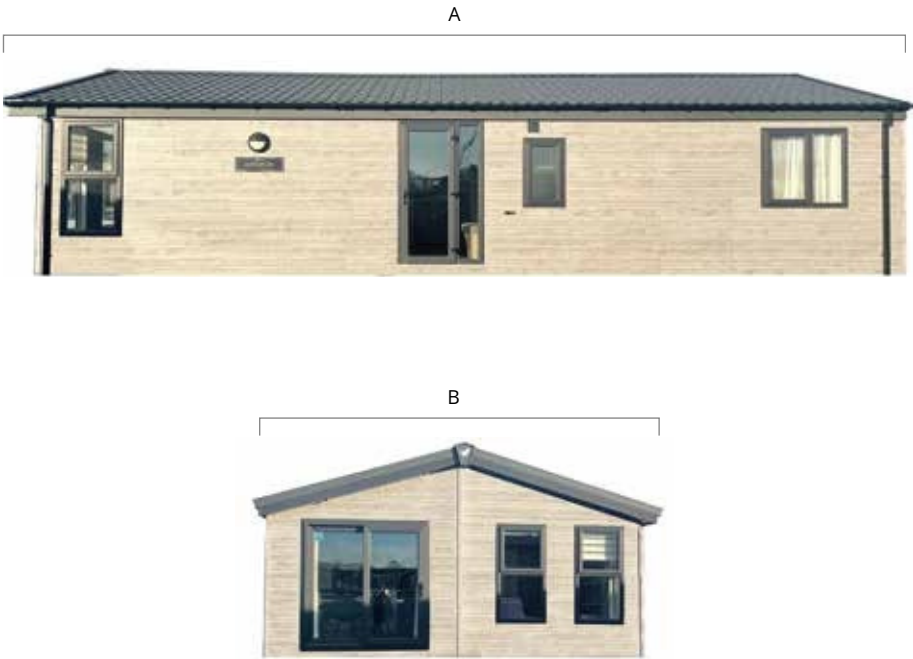

Light Grey

Please refer to your park licence and associated planning conditions when selecting your exterior cladding. Some non-standard cladding options may incur extra costs, and the colour of your soffits, fascias, guttering and roof may also change – please confirm details with your supplying park or dealer prior to purchase.

Exterior dimensions

We are often asked for details of the overall dimensions of our holiday homes. Detailed below are the most commonly requested types of measurements. The holiday home industry is unusual in that it still uses imperial measurements. Please ensure that you use this table to get an accurate size for your home to make sure it fits your pitch.

	A	B
Model	Max length (MM)	Max width (MM)
The Boston
40 x 20 2 Bedroom	12761	6756

The New Holland
40 x 20 2 Bedroom	13333	6756
40 x 20 3 Bedroom	13333	6756

The above dimensions are subject to manufacturing tolerance variations. All measurements are based on drawing dimensions working from the extremities of the structure. Dimensions are based on the holiday home being built to EN 1647 specification. Where the optional Residential Specification BS 3632 (2023) is added, the overall dimensions may increase depending on the chosen model - please contact your supplying park or dealer for more information. All with optional patio doors are the same dimensions as standard models.

Making the right choice

With such a wide range of holiday lodges available to choose from, we know that choosing the model that's right for you can sometimes be a difficult decision.
